STUDENT HANDBOOK

This handbook contains information regarding some of the available resources for Alaska Pacific University students, as well as descriptions of non-academic policies and procedures. Information regarding courses, registration, and other academic policies and procedures can be found in the Academic Catalog. The Dean of Students Office, the Campus Life Office, and the Associated Students of Alaska Pacific University (ASAPU) develop this publication.

Dear Students,

Welcome to Alaska Pacific University! I hope you had a great summer and you were able to fit in some time for adventure. There is nothing like getting to know a new class of students and I look forward to meeting all of you. In the same vein, I can't wait to greet all the returning students and listen to their summer stories. The beginning of fall semester truly is one of my favorite times of the year, because the return of students to campus brings with it a palpable sense of creative energy and ideas.

Whether you are new to APU or coming back after a break, it can be easy to get caught up in the hustle and bustle of a new semester. Don't worry, we got you covered. Included in this handbook are summaries of student services and important policies and procedures that apply to student life at APU. You will also find the contact information and locations of dozens of helpful offices around campus. Please take the time to read and become familiar with this resource. It will guide you on your path to student success.

But what does it mean to be a successful student at APU? In short, a successful student at APU is curious, engaged, and ready for hands-on experience. However, success at APU goes beyond the individual student; it also involves being part of the community. As highlighted in APU's mission, we strive to honor Alaska's vibrant cultural heritage while also preparing students for a rapidly changing world. One of the best ways to be a part of any community, is taking on responsibility and becoming a leader.

Fortunately, there are plenty of ways to be a student leader at APU. Whether you want to organize volunteers for a service learning project, join a student club, or become a member of student government, the options are endless. All you have to do is take that first step and before you know it you will be well on your way to becoming an integral part of the APU community. Ask any graduate of APU; these experiences will prepare you for a life of inquiry and engagement. 'Tis but a small thing, but I hope this student handbook helps you get started on that epic journey.

In the meantime, don't hesitate to stop by the Dean of Students Office if you have questions, ideas, or you just want to sit a spell and chat.

Sincerely,

Benjamin Hahn
Dean of Students

Welcome back or welcome to Alaska Pacific University! My name is Mackenzie Larson, and I am your ASAPU President this year. ASAPU, the Associated Students of Alaska Pacific University, is a student-run organization made up of a president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, and representatives for each class. We also have two advisors, the Dean of Students, Ben Hahn, and the Assistant to the Dean of Students, Kaili Martin. ASAPU's mission is to represent you all as students and ensure you feel heard. ASAPU sponsors all the student clubs at APU as well as the People Mover public transportation so students, staff, and faculty may ride it free of charge—simply show the driver your current APU ID! Additionally, ASAPU puts on a school-wide event each semester and sponsors other events to promote a sense of fun and community.

I was the ASAPU sophomore representative two years ago, the ASAPU Treasurer and Student Nurse Association President last year and am now fully prepared to take on this new role as ASAPU President. I graduated from APU with my Associate's in Nursing last year and am currently working in the hospital as a Registered Nurse while going back to APU for one more year to get my Bachelor of Science in Nursing. I clearly cannot get enough of APU!

If you are interested in becoming a student leader, ASAPU still has open positions! Check your APU email regularly for updates on fall elections, as well as other ASAPU-related updates.

Let's make this year a great one!

Thank you,

Mackenzie Larson

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, it is the policy of Alaska Pacific University to make reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. An accommodation is a modification or service that provides a student with a documented disability an equal opportunity to benefit from the educational process. Reasonable accommodations include modifications and adjustments that do not fundamentally alter or lower the standards of an instructional program.

DSS supports and advocates for students who experience disabilities. DSS also coordinates support services and reasonable accommodations for APU students who experience disabilities and provides resources for the University and community. If a student with a disability would like to request for reasonable accommodations, the student is encouraged to notify the DSS Coordinator.

We encourage all students to be their own advocates. Under the ADA, accommodations are always student-led in a post-secondary environment. Once contacted, Disability Support Services determines eligibility on an individualized basis through a review of diagnostic reports, interactive dialogue with the student, and a best-practices approach. Students who would like to discuss accommodation options should schedule a meeting with DSS. We can help walk you through the process for providing current diagnostic and evaluative reports and requesting reasonable accommodations that are supported by documentation. Advanced planning is strongly encouraged. Students may request accommodations at any point during their time at APU. However, they should provide DSS with as much notice as possible, preferably 72+ hours. It's understood that short notice is sometimes unavoidable. The DSS Office will make a good faith effort to determine eligibility as soon as the request is received and provide reasonable accommodation, if approved.

Distance or online learning and teaching may be new territory for some students and faculty. Remember that DSS is here, as a resource, to support students, faculty, and staff. It is important to understand that the University's responsibility to ensure accessible courses, programs, and services has not changed. Facilitating access and promoting an inclusive environment for our students is paramount.

All publications (web and print), as well as all events that take place on APU campuses, must be accessible to eligible persons with disabilities. Whenever possible, materials and events should be accessible by design. When adjustment is needed, Disability Support Services can provide assistance.

Departments and/or clubs and individual entities hosting events or publishing information are ultimately responsible for ensuring that adequate notice is given so that eligible persons can make requests for accommodation in a timely manner.

Emergency Student Loans

Alaska Pacific University students may apply through the Dean of Students Office for an emergency student loan up to $1,000. Emergency student loans are for short-term crises. Approval for emergency student loans may be dependent on academic or judicial status.

International Student Services

Once admitted through the Admissions Office, the Dean of Students Office provides international students with guidance regarding US Homeland Security Policies. The Dean of Students Office also orients international students to APU and helps identify on-campus resources for their continued student success.

DINING SERVICES

Atwood Center 207

foodservices@alaskapacific.edu
(907) 564-8323

Our top-notch dining staff works hard to provide quality home-cooked meals for our students year round. Our dining staff prepares 19 meals a week for students on-campus and uses locally sourced items whenever possible. Many of our vegetables come from APU's own Kellogg Farm in Palmer, AK.

With advance notice, staff can prepare "meals to go" for students who will be doing field work or who otherwise cannot be in the dining room during regular meal hours. Students without a meal plan may purchase a meal directly in the dining hall or set up a declining balance on their student account by contacting the director of Auxiliary Services.

McMillen Student Center Mealtimes

Lunch 11:30 - 1:30 pm
Dinner 4:30 - 6:30 pm

Saturday & Sunday

Brunch 10:30 - 12:30 pm
Dinner 4:30 - 6:30 pm

Campus Dining Expectations & Policies

The meal plan begins on the day the residence halls open and ends the last day of classes of each block or session. Dining is not provided during winter or summer breaks.

Meals on all non-class days (i.e.: school closure, holidays) will be on the brunch/dinner weekend schedule. This includes breaks between Block and Session and the week of Spring Break.

Meals should be consumed in the cafeteria with the exception of to-go meals and sack lunches, which should be requested at least two days prior. Food may not be taken out of the dining hall for later consumption or given to others.

Students are asked to return used dishes to the dish return shelves. Dishes, glassware, and utensils may not be taken from the dining room.

Alaska Health Laws require that you wear a shirt and shoes in the Atwood dining areas.

Visiting guests are welcome to dine with you in the dining room, but guests must pay for their meals with either cash or credit card.

Unused meals may not be transferred to any other person and will not be refunded, barring an extreme circumstance.

If you are away from campus due to a course trip lasting more than three days, you may request a meal plan reimbursement from the Campus Life Office. If your request is approved, you will be reimbursed 50% of the total per diem meal plan cost. Your request must be made prior to the trip. Reimbursements will not be offered for any other reason when students are away from campus during the designated length of the housing and meal plan contract.

Intentionally disregarding these policies will lead to student disciplinary sanctions of varying severity. Possible sanctions may include:

- Reimbursement to the University
- Community Service
- Disciplinary fines
- Full or Partial loss of meal services without reimbursement

Sack Meals

If you will be traveling for a class during a meal time, you may request a “sack meal” for that day. Sack meals must be requested at least two-days in advance so staff can prepare them. Requests made the day of will not be honored.

To request a sack meal, email the kitchen manager and include the date of your class trip, which meal (breakfast, brunch, lunch, dinner), your class name/number, and the name of your professor. It is also recommended to include important dietary information if you have specific food-related allergies or needs.

Recycling

Please ensure you put recycling into the designated blue containers, located in each building (except North and South Atwood), for the Recycling Program team to pick up. The Recycling Program team transports recycling from the designated blue containers to the green and yellow receptacles located in both Atwood Center (rear entrance, 1st floor) and Grant Hall (elevator access, 1st floor). Please contact Auxiliary Services if you would like to join the Recycling Program team or have any questions about recycling at APU.

Recyclable items: plastics (numbers 1 & 2 only), aluminum, tin, and mixed paper. Cardboard can be recycled on-campus but is not picked up by our team and must be placed in the proper receptacles (behind Grant Hall and at the start of the Row). Glass recycling is now being accepted and will be transported to the dark gray tub located in the Atwood Center (rear entrance, 1st floor).

Non-recyclable items: plastic bags, Plastic clam shells, and cardboard from ready-to-eat food (pizza boxes, frozen meals, etc.).

GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEM (GIS) LAB

(907) 564-8350

Rooms 306-8: The GIS lab has 20 Windows computers. In addition to the standard installation of Microsoft Office, the GIS lab includes ArcGIS and limited copies of other advanced scientific software. The GIS lab is primarily used for APU classes and training sessions, but serves as an open lab for student use during the remainder of the time. INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY (IT)

Grant Hall 115

ithelpdesk@alaskapacific.edu

(907) 564-8350

The Alaska Pacific University IT department supports APU-owned computers, printers, scanners, fax machines, phones, copiers, and the entire APU network. IT collaborates with the Academic Support Center (ASC) to evaluate existing and emerging technologies, and to provide technology tools, training, and leadership for APU students and employees. Wireless internet is available throughout the entire campus. Students and employees can connect to the wireless network using their current APU account username and password.

IT Department hours of operation: Monday - Friday, 8:00 - 5:00 pm

Student ID Cards: The IT department is where students will get their photo ID. The student ID is needed for entry to on-campus housing in North Atwood and Segelhorst. Students need a current APU ID to access both the People Mover bus system and the APU/UAA Consortium Library. The ID Cards must be scanned on an exterior door reader at least every 30 days to maintain access to the buildings.

Email communication: All enrolled students and employees have an APU email account. It is important that students routinely check their email for important announcements and updates. All official APU communications are sent via APU email addresses.

Microsoft 365 licensing is provided for all students while they have an active account. This includes 1TB of OneDrive storage, Exchange Online email which can hold up to 100GB of data, collaboration tools such as Teams and Planner, MS Forms, and the ability to download the full Office Suite to 5 personal devices.

KELLOGG CAMPUS

Palmer, AK

kelloggcampus@alaskapacific.edu
(907) 564-8613

The Kellogg Campus is a 900-acre working farm in the Matanuska Susitna Valley, 40 miles north of Anchorage. In 1973, the land was given in trust to Alaska Methodist University by its owner, V. Louise Kellogg, a Board of Trustees member. It is now managed by APU, overseen by the Dewolf Kellogg Trust.

APU programs on the Kellogg campus include Spring Creek Farm, a vegetable farm that uses organic practices, the Kellogg FIELD School, a homeschool program for K-6 students, and the Master of Science degree in Outdoor and Environmental Education program. Portions of the Kellogg campus are also leased to a local hay farmer. In 2018, the Trust finalized an agricultural land easement, preserving 74 acres of this campus as agricultural lands in perpetuity.

The Kellogg campus welcomes student groups or individuals to visit, volunteer, or simply enjoy this beautiful property. During farm production months (May - Sep) the Kellogg campus can prearrange volunteer opportunities or student projects on the farm or at our Anchorage-based farm stand. APU students can also reserve space for student groups to hold meetings, retreats, or recreational events. Finally, students are welcome to submit proposals for junior and senior internships, practicums, and projects. Reach out to the Kellogg Campus Manager for details and directions.

Policies and Procedures

The following section provides descriptions of policies and procedures that pertain to student life at Alaska Pacific University. These descriptions are meant to highlight policies and procedures that are most relevant to students, this is not a comprehensive list of all policies and procedures at Alaska Pacific University.

Information regarding courses, registration, and other academic policies and procedures can be found in the Academic Catalog.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY & PLAGIARISM

Grant Hall 101

Provost Office: (907) 564-8261

provost@alaskapacific.edu

Academic Integrity is the term used to refer to some of the most important values of the Alaska Pacific University community. APU holds high standards and expectations for the quality and honesty of our work and for the work of other members of the academic community. APU community members rely on one another to live up to these standards because the quality and value of our own academic work depends on the trustworthiness of the work done by our colleagues. Academic work is like building blocks as the work of one academic builds upon another; therefore, it is imperative that we acknowledge and properly document the sources of information that we are using. This will also ensure that others can locate the original information if they want to know more.

The reputation of our academic work is founded on whether others can use it with confidence and feel confident that their own contributions will be acknowledged. Similarly, the reputation of APU and respect for the value of the qualifications we gain from it are earned and maintained through the integrity of our work.

Plagiarism and Cheating

Definition of Plagiarism: Plagiarism is a major form of academic dishonesty involving the presentation of the work of another as one's own. Plagiarism includes but is not limited to the following:

- The direct copying of a written or electronic source, whether published or unpublished, in whole or in part, without proper acknowledgment that it is someone else's

- Copying of a written or electronic source, in whole or in part, with only minor changes in wording or syntax, even with acknowledgment
- The paraphrasing of another's work without proper acknowledgments
- Submitting as one's own work a report, examination, paper or other assignment that has been prepared by someone else. This includes research papers acquired from any other person or agency
- Submitting as one's work the contents of a computer file prepared by another person

Instructor's Role: A conference between the student and instructor is the first and may be the only step in addressing alleged violations of the Academic Integrity Policy. Once the instructor contacts the student (within a reasonable timeframe), the instructor will inform the student of the details of the alleged violation and will give the student a copy of the Academic Integrity Policy. It is up to the instructor to present evidence of the violation. The student will be given the opportunity to respond and may explain any misconduct.

The instructor has the authority to:

1. Require the student to revise or replace the work (faculty may assign a deferred grade)
2. Require the student to complete another assignment
3. Reduce the grade on the assignment or course
4. Assign a grade of F or zero on the assignment
5. Assign a final grade penalty for the course
6. Assign a failing grade for the course
7. Refer the matter to the Provost

Appeal of an Informal Proceeding: A student sanctioned for violation of the Academic Integrity Policy may appeal the instructor's decision that a violation has occurred, and/or the sanction. The appeal must be submitted in writing to the instructor and Provost within 10 working days of the notification of sanction, if notification is received prior to the last week of the term. If notification is sent after the term is over, the written statement of appeal must be submitted no later than the end of the first week of classes in the next semester.

The written statement of appeal must state the following:

1. Name of the person appealing
2. The basis of the appeal
3. The instructor making the decision
4. The remedy the person appealing is requesting from the Provost

Provost's Role in an Appeal: As soon as practical, the Provost will convene a meeting to hear the appeal and make a recommendation. The student making the appeal may have an advisor of the student's choice present at the hearing. The faculty involved will attend the meeting and may ask their Institute Director to attend. The purpose of the meeting is to decide if the findings of the instructor were so incorrect that the decision should be changed. The student and instructor will present their sides of the case along with any evidence. After receiving all information, the Provost will either sustain or deny the appeal. The Provost's decision will be in writing and will state the findings of fact and conclusion as to whether there has been a violation of policy or a decision that the instructor is to hold another conference with the student. The Provost will not impose a more severe sanction than the one recommended by the instructor, unless such severe sanction is deemed appropriate by the Provost based on documented repeated violations by that student.

ACCESS & RELEASE OF STUDENT INFORMATION Carr Gottstein 106
Registrar Office: (907) 564-8210
regoff@alaskapacific.edu

Annually, Alaska Pacific University informs students of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974, as amended. This Act, with which the institution intends to comply fully, was designated to protect the privacy of education records, to establish the right of students to inspect and review their education records, to provide guidelines for the correction of inaccurate or misleading data through informal and formal hearings, and to submit an explanatory statement for inclusion in the education record if the outcome of the hearing is unsatisfactory.

Students have the right to file complaints with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act Office of the Department of Education in Washington, D.C., concerning alleged failures by the University to comply with the act.

Written complaints should be directed to:
Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act Office,
Department of Education,
Switzer Building, Room 4074, Washington, D.C. 20202

Dean of Students Office: (907) 564-8287
Campus Safety: (907) 564-8888

APU is committed to providing a learning and residential environment that supports the intellectual and personal development, safety, and welfare of all students and employees.

Rules Governing Alcohol at APU

- The possession, serving, consumption, or selling of alcohol to people over the legal age of 21 is prohibited on campus without the written permission of the President of APU.
- Being intoxicated on campus is prohibited.
- Drinking on campus by people under the legal age of 21 is prohibited.
- Serving alcohol to or buying alcohol for people under the legal age of 21 is prohibited on and off campus.
- Hosting, allowing, or attending unauthorized gatherings on campus, where alcohol is served, is prohibited.
- The possession, serving, consumption, or selling of alcohol to people over the legal age of 21 is prohibited at off-campus APU events without the written permission of the President of APU.

How to Initiate a Permitted Alcohol Event

A recognized student club or department sponsors the activity and assumes responsibility for managing alcohol use during the event. For activities offered to students, the Dean of Students meets with the sponsors and establishes guidelines designed to manage liability risks for APU and prevent the violation of state, federal, and municipal laws.

A sponsor requesting permission for an event at which alcohol will be served must fill out a form obtained from the Dean of Students Office which requests the following types of information:

- Expected attendance numbers
- Presence/absence of underage students and employees
- Alcohol quantity and quality limitations
- Alcohol server qualifications
- Secure storage of alcohol before, during, and after the event

- Safety considerations applicable to the event such as transportation to and from the event and environmental conditions

Intoxication on Campus

Students identified by APU officials to be under the influence of alcohol on campus violate the APU Alcohol Policy whether the substance(s) were consumed on or off campus. Indications of being intoxicated include but are not limited to:

- Individuals who are stumbling or incoherent
- Individuals who are driving a vehicle erratically
- Individuals or groups that are abnormally and obnoxiously loud
- Individuals who are passed out, ill, or require medical attention due to alcohol consumption

Determining Consequences for Alcohol Violations

The Student Conduct System is designed to ensure that disciplinary matters are handled fairly and in ways that uphold student rights and responsibilities. APU views all student conduct proceedings as educational opportunities.

With most alcohol policy violation cases, an incident report is filed by a member of the APU community or the police. The Dean of Students or their designee organizes a meeting with the student(s) involved. These meetings are not legal proceedings, but an opportunity for the student(s) to present information relevant to allegations included in the incident report.

APU employees, including resident advisors (RAs), are authorized to investigate an incident possibly involving alcohol on campus. Cooperation is expected from all parties involved. Hostile or threatening behavior towards APU employees responding to such incidents will be taken into consideration during the student's judicial process.

The Dean of Students or their designee is responsible for overseeing sanctions imposed for violating the rules governing alcohol at APU. See Appeals Board for the appeals process.

APU community members are encouraged to assist any person on the APU campus who is dangerously intoxicated. Leaving an intoxicated person alone, allowing someone to drive while intoxicated, or watching someone perform risky activities while intoxicated can lead to serious injuries or death. Call the RA cellphone (244-7955) or Campus Safety (564-8888) if there are concerns about a person being dangerously intoxicated on campus.

Drug Free Campus

In accordance with the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988, Alaska Pacific University prohibits the unlawful manufacture, sale, distribution, dispensation, possession, or use of controlled substances or drugs not medically authorized on APU property or at any APU sponsored function, whether on or off-campus.

APPEALS BOARD

Atwood Center 116

Dean of Students Office: (907) 564-8287

DOSOff@alaskapacific.edu

Students have 15 business days to appeal sanctions to the Alaska Pacific University Appeals Board. Unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Dean of Students Office, sanctions begin immediately while the appeals process proceeds. Appeals of sanctions are to be submitted in writing to the Dean of Students Office, and include a specific, recognized basis for the appeal.

Criteria of the appeal must include one or more of the following reasons:

- New relevant evidence not previously available
- A flawed disciplinary process
- An excessive disciplinary punishment

The Appeals Board convenes when a case is referred from the Dean of Students. The Appeals Board is comprised of one faculty representative appointed by the Provost, one staff representative appointed by the President of APU, and one student member appointed by the Associated Students of Alaska Pacific University (ASAPU).

A second alternate representative is identified for each position for circumstances when one or more of the members cannot hear an appeal or refuses due to conflicts of interest or involvement with a particular incident. One representative from each faculty, staff, and student body is required when considering an appeal. The Appeals Board determines collectively their internal rules of procedure and identifies one representative as the chair.

After receiving and considering the written appeal, the Appeals Board may:

- Reject the appeal on procedural grounds
- Consider the issues in the case and support the Dean's decision
- Consider the issues in the case and meet with the Dean of Students to recommend altering the original decision. In cases where the Appeals Board and the Dean of Students cannot reach an agreement, the case can be referred to the President of APU or their designee for a final decision

DOGS ON CAMPUS

Atwood Center 116

Dean of Students Office: (907) 564-8287

DOSOff@alaskapacific.edu

Policy Overview

Pets can pose a threat to the health and safety of the campus community, as well as to a healthful educational environment (through allergy, excessive noise, waste, animal bites, and disease transmission via fleas, ticks, parasites, viruses, bacteria, etc.). Pets on campus can also be destructive, causing damage to grounds, buildings, and property.

APU prohibits pets inside APU-controlled buildings, except for those animals that are exempted from this policy. Any person who walks a pet on APU-grounds shall be responsible for the behavior and actions of the pet, health and safety of individuals in proximity of the animal, and the health and cleanliness of the campus environment. To this end, the prompt collection and disposal of animal waste is required, and all pets must be attended and leashed at all times.

Pets are not permitted in the University residences, including student rooms, suites, and units. The only exception to the pet policy is fish in an aquarium no larger than 10 gallons. Fish tanks should be regularly maintained. Pets of guests may not “visit” suites or units, even on a temporary basis. Visiting pets must be on a leash and left in vehicles or outside with supervision. If any unauthorized pet is kept in a resident's room, judicial action will be taken and a $500 cleaning and fumigation fee will be immediately charged to the resident.

APU has a comprehensive dog policy designed to minimize the difficulties associated with dogs on campus.

- Dogs on campus must be leashed at all times
- The animal's owner or handler shall be responsible for the immediate and proper disposal of animal waste. The default area for any animal relief is the tree line at the edge of the woods. Animal waste must be disposed of in dumpsters. Office, suite, and common area trash receptacles must be avoided as a place to dispose of animal waste.
- Dogs are prohibited in campus buildings unless the dog is a certified service animal or an approved assistance animal
- Dog exclusion areas may be posted surrounding University Lake, the APU soccer fields, and selected campus trails

GRIEVANCE POLICY & PROCEDURE

Atwood Center 116

Dean of Students Office: (907) 564-8287

DOSOff@alaskapacific.edu

The Student Grievance Procedure is designed to assist students who have a complaint with an APU employee. Grievance procedures are not designed to resolve disciplinary situations handled under the terms of the Student Conduct System. The following actions can be grieved:

- Wrongful or erroneous fines or penalties
- Wrongful or erroneous withholding of payments or deposits, or failure to honor refund policies
- Failure to amend erroneous behavioral records

Procedure

1. An aggrieved student must first attempt to resolve all complaints informally with the APU employee directly involved in the action.
2. If the aggrieved student cannot resolve the grievance through efforts exerted in Step One, a written grievance must be filed with the Dean of Students Office. The grievance must state:
 - The nature of the grievance and the circumstances out of which it arose
 - The date of the occurrence
 - The requested remedy or correction being sought
 - The efforts taken to resolve the matter pursuant to Step One, and the result(s) of those efforts
 - The filing date and signature of the grievant

- Current contact information for the grievant
 - Grievances must be filed within 15 calendar days from the date of the occurrence. Failure to submit a grievance within such periods shall constitute a bar to further action on the grievance
 - The Dean of Students will arrange for an informal conference with the affected parties to discuss the grievance
3. If the grievance cannot be resolved pursuant to efforts taken in Step Two, the Dean of Students Office will refer the grievance to the President. The President or their authorized representative will convene a meeting of the APU Appeals Board. Within five working days, after the grievance is referred to the President, the President or their authorized representative shall provide all parties with a notice of hearing.

The notice shall contain:

- The time and place of the hearing
- The names of the presiding officer and committee members, as well as the person authorized by APU to issue a final order
- A statement of the authority and jurisdiction under which the hearing is to be held
- A statement that the hearing is being held at the request of the grievant

Following the hearing, the APU Appeals Board will issue a final decision within 30 calendar days of the hearing. If a student is still dissatisfied after following designated APU grievance procedures, student may appeal a decision to the Alaska Commission on Post-Secondary Education.

Student Conduct System

APU has a strong commitment to creating an educational environment that encourages the development of personal character. An important element of this commitment involves helping students develop ethical values, personal independence, and acceptance of consequences that result from personal actions and decisions. APU views all disciplinary cases as educational opportunities. Students have the right to bring charges against individuals who they believe are in violation of the Student Conduct Code. Judicial hearings are administered through the Dean of Students Office.

The Student Conduct System has been developed to address incidents where students are alleged to have violated the expectations of the Student Conduct Code. The system is designed to ensure that disciplinary matters are handled fairly and in ways that honor student rights and responsibilities. The following elements comprise the system.

Administration: The Dean of Students Office, or their designee, is responsible for disciplining students who have violated the Student Conduct Code with the exception of cases of Academic Dishonesty which are overseen by the Provost. Any member of the Dean of Students Office or other members of the APU community may file an incident report alleging a violation of the Student Conduct Code.

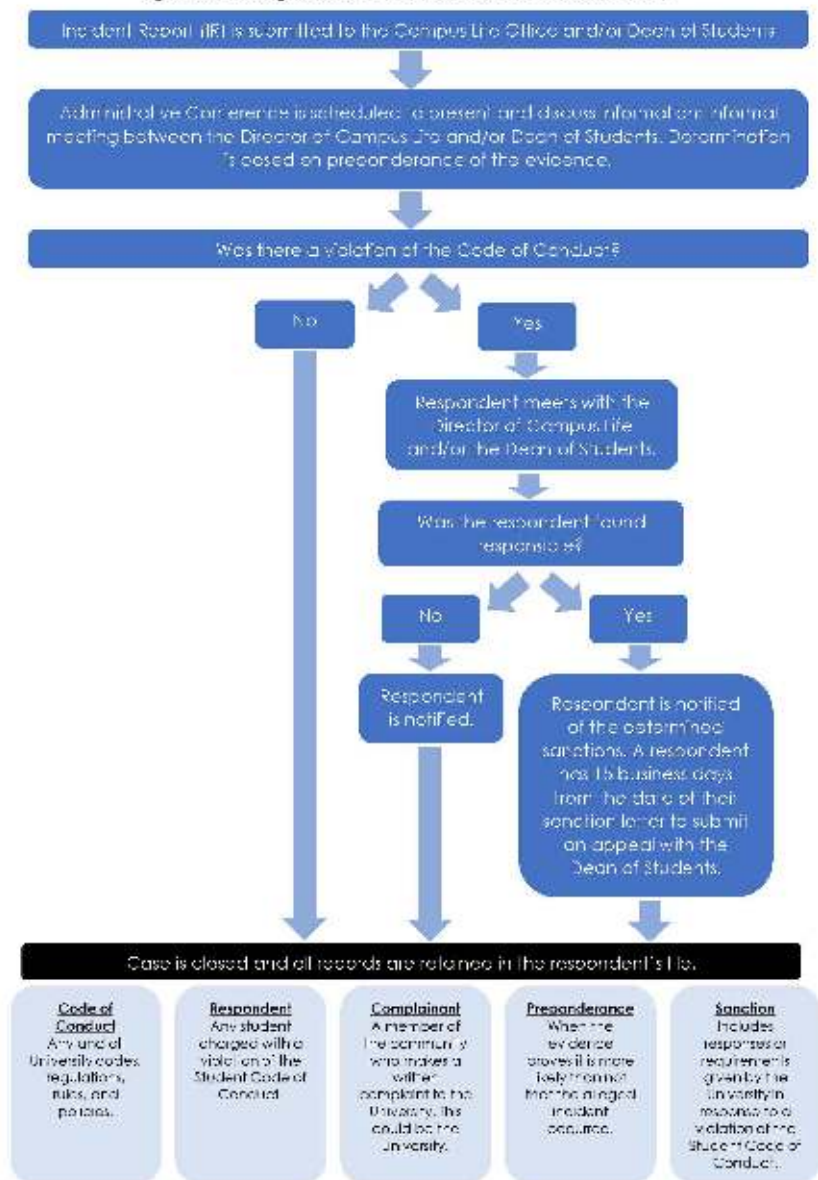

The Student(s) charged with Student Conduct Code violations can expect the following:

- The student(s) charged will be advised in writing of the allegations, the Student Conduct Code elements alleged to have been violated, and the nature of the evidence supporting the charges.
- The student(s) will be given an opportunity to meet with a member of the Dean of Students Office to discuss alleged violations of the Student Conduct Code. In these meetings students have the right to present witnesses and share their perspective on the incident.
- Any disciplinary action resulting from this process may be appealed to the APU Appeals Board.
- Disciplinary Process: The Dean of Students Office, or their designee, will investigate the incident and arrange a meeting with student(s) alleged to have violated the Student Conduct Code.
- Students are given at least 72-hours advanced notice of the meeting unless there are pressing considerations of public health and safety involved and/or further serious allegations of misconduct.
- Students may present witnesses and present their side of the story. If the accused student does not respond to a meeting request, the case will be considered without the student present.

- Following the investigation and meeting with the student, the Dean of Students, or their designee, will decide.
- In cases where a Student Conduct Code violation has occurred, disciplinary actions are decided by the Dean of Students Office, or their designee.
- The Dean of Students Office, or their designee, informs the student(s) in writing regarding the outcome of the process.
- Disciplinary Actions: The Dean of Students, or their designee, is responsible for overseeing sanctions imposed in disciplinary situations.

The following are examples of sanctions that may be imposed for Student Conduct Code violations: Warning, Disciplinary Reprimand, Monetary Sanction, Educational Sanction, Disciplinary Probation, Suspension from Residence, Suspension from APU, or Dismissal.

SERVICE & ASSISTANCE ANIMALS

Atwood Center 113

Disability Support Services Office: (907) 564-8287

dss@alaskapacific.edu

The Disability Support Services (DSS) Office supports and advocates for students who experience disabilities. DSS coordinates support services and reasonable accommodations for students who experience disabilities, and provides resources for the University community. Alaska Pacific University recognizes the importance of allowing people who require the use of service or assistance animals to receive the benefit of the work, tasks, or therapeutic support provided by such animals on campus. However, service animals, assistance animals, and pets are not the same.

Definitions

Pet: A pet is an animal kept for ordinary use, pleasure, and companionship. Campus Life residential housing programs have separate policies regarding pets.

Service Animal: A service animal is a dog (and in certain circumstances, a miniature horse) that has been trained to do work or perform tasks for an individual with a disability. In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), institutions that receive federal funding are required to allow the use of service animals on college campuses in order to provide equal access to programs, activities, and services. Under this policy, Alaska Pacific University allows service animals in all buildings, including residence halls and dining areas, as well as at activities and events when the service animal is accompanied on campus by a student with a disability.

Assistance Animal: An assistance animal is an animal that works, provides assistance, or performs tasks for the benefit of a person with a disability, or provides emotional support that alleviates one or more identified symptoms or effects of a person's disability. An assistance animal does not have to be professionally trained and is not considered a service animal as defined by the ADA.

Do I have to register my Service Animal?

It is encouraged, but not required. Students who need the assistance of a service animal on campus are highly encouraged to register the service animal with DSS.

Please note however, that students requesting to have an assistance animal, including an emotional support animal, must register with DSS and then the Director of Campus Life prior to the animal arriving on campus.

Do I have to register my Assistance or Emotional Support Animal?

Students requesting to have an assistance animal, including an emotional support animal, must register with the DSS prior to the animal arriving on campus. No animals, with the exception of approved pets (Pet section of this handbook below) or service animals, are permitted on campus without prior approval from DSS and the Director of Campus Life.

Use of Service & Assistance Animals in Residence Halls

Campus Life has modified the “Dogs on Campus” policy in the residence halls to accommodate the use of service animals and assistance animals by students with disabilities.

Expectations, Rights, and Responsibilities

- The care and supervision of all animals is the responsibility of the individual with the animal. If the animal is not under control by its owner or handler and the individual does not take immediate and effective action to control it; the animal is not housebroken; the animal's presence poses a direct threat to the health or safety of others or the animal has a history of such behavior; or the animal's presence fundamentally alters the nature of a program or service, the individual may be asked to remove the animal.
- If a student is concerned about exposure to an animal (e.g., the individual experiences severe allergies), that individual may request an accommodation through Disability Support Services. APU is committed to balancing the needs of individuals with the needs of the University community and appreciates the cooperation of all students, faculty, staff, and visitors.

- All dogs must be leashed or harnessed, unless the dog is a service animal and the restraint interferes with the animal's work or the individual's disability prevents using these devices.
- Animals may not be tethered to University buildings, structures, motor vehicles, trees, railings, light poles, benches, parking meters, posts, etc.
- Alaska state law requires dogs, cats, and ferrets to have rabies vaccinations, and the Municipality of Anchorage requires dogs to be licensed. Additional documentation regarding health and vaccination of animals may be required by law.
- Individuals with service and assistance animals are not charged extra fees or deposits, however all individuals with animals will be held responsible for any damage caused by their animals.
- The animal's owner or handler shall be responsible for the immediate and proper disposal of animal waste. The default area for any animal relief is the tree line at the edge of the woods. Animal waste must be disposed of in dumpsters. Office, suite, and common area trash receptacles must be avoided as a place to dispose of animal waste.
- Students who have an animal should meet with the Director of Campus Life or the Disability Support Services Coordinator to discuss procedures for identifying proper waste disposal areas on-campus.
- Individuals other than the owner or handler should not touch, feed, or otherwise distract service animals. They are working animals who must remain attentive to their duties.
- Service and assistance animals cannot be left under the supervisory care of any individual on campus except for the owner or handler.
- Assistance animals should not leave the owner's room, unless it is to relieve the animal, or in case of a building emergency.
- Assistance animals must be in good health and well-groomed. The student is ultimately responsible for the cleanliness, grooming and health of the animal.

- Service and assistance animals may not be left alone overnight or for a period of time greater than eight (8) consecutive hours.
- For emergency purposes, Campus Life will place a picture of registered animals on the suite door, identifying that an animal lives in the suite.
- Animals are not allowed in food preparation, serving or dining areas, or any public area where classes, meetings, group studying, or social activities are taking place, or in laboratories using chemicals or involving hazardous procedures.

Violation of these regulations may result in confiscation of the animal and/or administrative or disciplinary action to the owner. When an animal is not restrained or not attended, a reasonable attempt will be made to locate the animal's owner. If attempts to find the animal's owner are unsuccessful, Campus Life will contact the City of Anchorage Animal Control which will remove the animal from APU property. An animal is restrained or attended when it is in the immediate vicinity of an owner, and either on a leash of six feet or shorter, in a cage/carrier, or, in the case of a certified service animal, voice-controlled by a person competent to govern the behavior of the animal. To be considered attended, an animal may not be left fastened to a stationary object. APU will seek restitution for any animal-related damage to university-controlled property, facilities, or grounds. The repair or replacement cost of damaged property is the sole responsibility of the owner of the animal that caused the damage.
