It's been an important steward in training the next generation of Alaska Natives executive leaders. It was a once-in-a-lifetime experience—learning from my peers and building those networks that turned into long-term professional and community connections over time.

MALIA VILLEGAS, 2020 ANELP ALUMNA

This June, Join us in celebrating 10 years of the Alaska Native Executive Leadership Program at APU. As we celebrate 10 years of collaboration and partnership between APU and the Alaska Native Organizations, we are also looking to the future of the program. We hope you will join us for this incredible event and help us shape the next 10 years of the ANELP program as we prepare the next generation of Alaska Native executives. All proceeds raised for the event will benefit the Alaska Native Executive Leadership Program.

For all of the new partners, the Alaska Native Executive Leadership Program (ANELP) is graduate certificate designed to meet the specific needs of Alaska Native Corporations by providing future executives with the foundational knowledge to excel in today's competitive business climate and the know-how to build a holistic approach to identifying areas for improvement and strategies for change. For the last 10 years, the program has seen 158 participants from 36 Alaska Native Organizations.
